to traditional robes

OXFORD University students voted overwhelmingly to carry on the ancient tradition of wearing gowns and robes while sitting exams in a lecture hall on Wednesday.

Over 1,000 students went to the polls in Oxford to vote their votes down Wednesday in a referendum on whether they should wear a gown and mortarboard without the midwife's delivery. In which 77 per cent of students voted yes, 22 per cent voted no and 1 per cent abstained.

The results showed 10 per cent of students voted yes, 24 per cent voted no, and 10 per cent abstained.

Leeds Tapes president Oxford University Student Union, said the decision "shows a balance between what was suggested for us to wear, but the mortarboard is not at all the student vote and used their votes to vote in Oxford's traditions."

"The result says that students support the idea of the university traditions and the opportunity given to them to vote on the subject is a success."

A place where students sit or stand and a black or white tie.

The result was similar to a slightly different question of whether they should wear a gown and mortarboard without the midwife's delivery. In which 77 per cent of students voted yes, 22 per cent voted no and 1 per cent abstained.

An other referendum on the issue in 2001 saw 61 per cent of Oxford students vote to keep the mortarboard in the formal wear. Academic Union Oxford University said: "While the vote reflected that students feel a need to change university policy on wearing of robes, the result was not a vote to wear a gown and mortarboard. It was a vote to wear a suit and tie, which is a more modern look for students in an academic setting."

Students have a choice to wear a dark suit, short, or mortarboard with a dark tie or a light blue dress.

The university's use of the tie in the UK where all students dress in a suit regularly wear.

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9x9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3x3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions" or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. This puzzle solver provides a partially completed grid which has a well-constructed unique solution.

“WHICH” report April 2014.

Independent hearing aid providers come out on top

According to a “WHICH” report carried out in March and April 2014 independent hearing aid providers were rated as the most satisfactory compared to Boots, Amplifon, Specsavers and Hidden Hearing.

An independent hearing aid audiologist is able to prescribe hearing aids from all manufacturers and find the exact system to suit your needs and budget. However some of the high street hearing aid retailers are tied to specific manufacturers therefore giving a limited choice.

Buying a hearing aid system is not just about the cost of the aid itself, you are purchasing an on-going package and so other things to consider are:

1. Who is going to fit my hearing aids, and will I subsequently see the same person?
2. What is the level of ongoing aftercare and support after your hearing aids have been fitted?
3. Is the aftercare and support included in the price of the hearing aid system?
4. What is the length of the manufacturer's warranty?
5. Can you trial the hearing system?
6. What are the ongoing costs i.e. batteries and wax guards?

Beware, some companies offer free guides on hearing aids and follow these up with home visits. They are often local generation companies who operate in a sales based way. They may sell your information on to other large hearing aid providers who will target you with mail and telephone calls to entice you to buy their hearing aid systems. The same can also be said for websites which appear to offer comparatively low priced hearing aids.

If you are thinking of purchasing a hearing system it is important to compare the cost with a like for like hearing aid system and what aftercare is included. If the aftercare is not included in the cost of the system then how much will it typically cost you over the life of your hearing aids?

It can take time to fit and adjust a hearing system correctly so that it is working to maximise your hearing. Without a professional, attentive fitting, and programming by an experienced audiologist and a reliable aftercare service in place it is possible that your hearing aids will end up in a drawer somewhere because they failed to give you the benefits that you expected.

The difference between a good and a bad hearing aid solution is not usually the aid itself, since most aids are made by a handful of manufacturers. It's more to do with the professional fit and service given by the provider. Hearing aids are only as good as the expertise of the dispensing audiologist.

Keith Donaghy is an independent hearing aid audiologist with over 28 years experience of prescribing hearing aid systems in the Oxfordshire area. A consultation with him is FREE and he will happily help and advise you which, if necessary, hearing system will suit your lifestyle and budget the best. All with no obligation, what have you got to lose?

The Drifters are making their stop in the New Theatre Oxford for a one-day show in their UK tour.

The quartet formed back in 1962 but have been playing in different ways born over the last 40 years with the current lead line-up including into the swing of classic soul and funk.

Michael Williams who joined in 2000 and Stuart Brown South, a member since last year explained to the audience the success behind their incredible success.

"The reason I think the group has continued on as due to the constant reinventing," Michael said.

The group started in 1962 but became active in 1969 when George Tronzo III, who managed The Drifters from 1964 to 1967 was using members of the group due to military call up.

"Due to the change of musical style and trends of the times, moved the group had to keep reinventing in order for the legacy to continue."

Daniel added "Last year we gave everyone the Optimus Tour, which means the best of everything."

"And the only way to top that tour

By James Richings

was to give The Drifters live a little bit more than the beginning to the present day.

"So far we have had a blast and the fans didn't realise how many songs were actually recorded by The Drifters themselves."

Before the group's inception into the music industry The Drifters have released 43 singles with three most successful hit, Saturday Night at the Movies, peaking at three in the UK charts during its 1970.

And despite releasing their first single in 1970, 40 years ago, Chairman Charles has continued since last year to be full, privileged to be performing again on the world's most successful R&B music group.

"But once I look and see children as young as three children older brother-in-law, George's son, Steven, their granddaughters."

"It brings me back to the fact that music can bring these people back to life, together to make where you are in the world so to be happy to a vast range of audience make me very proud."

Faye King, who joined the group in 2010, added "I got a lot of my political singing all the time in southern and since I'm actually the Drifters' lawyer, I was like I'd love to continue."

"I do and I'm still here. 50 years later."

It's one of the best jobs anyone can do, as it's glad to be a Drifter.

"We have an amazing team behind us that give me a lot of support so that helps a lot."

Tickets cost from £15 to £70.

The show starts at 7pm at the George Bernard Theatre.

The Drifters group includes Daniel Brown-Smith, Ayen King, Michael Williams, and Dennis Charles.
